

Julie Myatt Bio

Julie Myatt is Director of Engage and Professor of English. She holds degrees from Tennessee Technological University (B.S. in Secondary Education, M.A. in English) and the University of Louisville (Ph.D. in Rhetoric and Composition). She teaches English and Public Writing and Rhetoric courses. She previously held leadership positions in the English department, serving as Coordinator of GTAs in English and as Co-Director of General Education English.

Myatt organized the Peck Symposium for nearly a decade, bringing together leading Writing Studies scholars, members of the MTSU community, area English Language Arts teachers, and faculty from universities across the region to discuss current research on writing and its implications for teaching. She is the immediate past Co-President of WPA Midsouth, an affiliate of the Council of Writing Program Administrators. Myatt was instrumental in establishing MTSU's Celebration of Student Writing and in promoting relationship-rich education initiatives at MTSU. She is a 2025-2026 Provost's Fellow.
